| [Excellent] A (85–92) or [Very Good] A- (80–84) | • You provide a detailed and specific thesis statement that clearly describes the main claim(s) you will be arguing for and indicates how what you plan to say adds something to the discussion, rather than mostly repeating the material we have read.
• You defend your claims in a well-developed way by giving and explaining your reasons for your position.
• You identify likely objections, present them charitably and respond to them effectively.
• You carefully explain the theoretical and/or practical implications of your argument. | • You provide an accurate account of the relevant parts of the theory.
• You illuminate the relationship between the theory’s conclusion(s) and its arguments.
• You quote relevant key passages with proper citations.
• You define key terms, and explain their role and how they relate to each other.
• You discuss what the thinker would probably have said about an issue by drawing on what he/she did say about other related matters. | • You choose your words carefully. The language is precise rather than vague, natural rather than awkward, straightforward rather than ostentatious.
• Each piece of the essay is presented in a way that makes it clear to the reader how it is relevant to your thesis.
• Where appropriate, you use real or hypothetical examples to help illustrate abstract points. |
| [Good] B+ (76–79), B (72–75) or B- (68–71) | • Thesis statement is clear, but general and unambitious.
• The reasons given to support claims are occasionally weak or too brief. Some claims in need of defence are merely asserted.
• Some key objections are not considered, or the response is weak or too brief.
• Theoretical and/or practical implications are not explained, or the explanation is vague and imprecise. | • There are minor inaccuracies in the account of the theory. Some small points are overlooked.
• The theory’s arguments for its conclusion(s) are described, but the relationship between them is not explained, or the explanation is vague and imprecise.
• Use of quotations is sometimes missing or erratic or without proper citations.
• Some key concepts are not defined, or are defined carelessly. | • The language is generally clear, but occasionally lacks precision or naturalness or desirable simplicity.
• The relevance of small parts of the essay is not made clear.
• Illustrative examples are used rarely or not at all. |
| [Fair] C+ (64–67), C (60–63) or C- (56–59) | • Thesis statement is absent or insignificant or confused.
• The reasons given to support claims are usually weak or too brief. Many claims in need of defence are merely asserted.
• Objections are not considered, or they are | • There are significant inaccuracies in the account of the theory. Some major points are overlooked.
• The theory’s conclusion(s) are described without reference to its arguments. | • The language is often unclear, due to being vague or awkward or ostentatious.
• The relevance of significant parts of the essay is not made clear.
• Illustrative examples are used incorrectly or not at all. |

Argument

Excellent
- You faithfully reconstruct the author’s positions, and prove this knowledge by knowing the argument(s) supporting the theses in the text.
- You evidence independent and self-initiated thinking and understanding of the arguments and philosophical problems through your ability to present your own counter-arguments and possible replies to counter-arguments.

Good
- You can faithfully reconstruct the author’s positions, and demonstrate a basic comprehension of the arguments supporting those positions.
- You show some independence in thinking, but have difficulty developing your own criticisms and rebuttals to criticism.

Fair
- You demonstrate an ability to properly relay information about the various texts and the positions contained therein, but have difficulty reconstructing the arguments, presenting counter-arguments, and criticism.
- You can faithfully relay information, but you show no independence in philosophical thinking, fail to show basic competence in philosophical argumentation and have a difficulty understanding arguments.

Pass
- You demonstrate some understanding of the course content, but have difficulty relaying accurate information about the positions and the arguments for such positions in the text.

Theory Analysis

Excellent
- You exhibit thorough understanding of the relations of the themes presented in the various texts.
- You demonstrate a comprehensive understanding of the relations between the various subjects and authors discussed in the course.
- You demonstrate an above-average facility in judgment by applying the various theories to cases and situations presented in the course of the exam.

Good
- You exhibit relatively complete understanding of the relations between the authors and the themes presented in the various texts.
- You show some basic, though average, facility in judgment by applying the various theories to cases and situations presented in the course of the exam.

Fair
- You show an incomplete understanding of the relations between the authors discussed in the course as well as the themes presented in the various texts.
- You demonstrate competence to memorize information, but you have some difficulty applying various theories to cases and situations presented in the course of the exam.

Pass
- Although the answers are readable, you exhibit seriously incomplete understanding of the content as well as the relationships between authors and themes covered in the readings and discussed in class.
- You fail to demonstrate facility in the application of various theories to cases and situations presented in the course of the exam.
